

Notice Regarding Unauthorized Use of the "TiraThai" Name

Tirathai Public Company Limited ("the Company") would like to inform our valued customers, business partners, shareholders, and the general public that we have become aware of a website operating under the domain www.tirathai.com, which uses the name "TiraThai" in connection with the promotion and sale of transformers, electrical equipment, and related products.

The Company wishes to clarify the following:

- Tirathai Public Company Limited has no affiliation, relationship, partnership, authorization, or business connection whatsoever with the website www.tirathai.com or its operators.
- The Company does not own, manage, control, endorse, represent, or authorize the activities, products, services, content, or communications appearing on that website.
- Any information, representations, product specifications, commercial offers, quotations, or communications published by or through www.tirathai.com are not issued, approved, or endorsed by Tirathai Public Company Limited.

As the name "TiraThai" may be similar to the corporate name and brand identity of Tirathai Public Company Limited, the Company is concerned that customers, suppliers, business partners, and members of the public may be misled into believing that the website, its operators, or its products are associated with, authorized by, or connected to the Company.

We therefore strongly encourage all stakeholders to exercise caution and to verify any information relating to Tirathai Public Company Limited through the Company's official communication channels only.
